

Inter Faith Week

It's been an incredibly busy few weeks at HNC, packed with exciting opportunities for you. Next week is no different, and you are invited to join us to reflect on your own faith or non-religious beliefs, and explore some of the beliefs of other communities and religions. As a College, we genuinely believe that understanding, reflecting and discussing the diversity of faith in the world is key in ensuring when you leave HNC you can play your part in creating a tolerant and respectful society.

Inter Faith Week

During Aspire you'll be taking part in a range of discussions, including how respecting and understanding faith is critical in ensuring we can all live in a peaceful world. You can get involved by:

- Joining us on Tuesday 21 November in the Junction to leave a comment on our scroll about your own beliefs, or how you think humankind can find commonality through our diverse beliefs.

As part of this one of our teachers, Dan, will be wearing his Buddhist robes and speaking to you about what his religion means to him and learning more about your personal beliefs.

- What would you tell the world about what your religion, spirituality or non religious beliefs? Or what misconception would you challenge about your beliefs? This week is your chance to have your say! Submit a creative piece of work to news@huddnewcoll.ac.uk or to your Progress Tutor by 30 November for a chance to be featured in our collection of work.

Find out what the armed services can offer you

Did you know that the armed forces offer hundreds of different careers from the obvious ones in active service to opportunities in engineering, medical care and even catering?

Our Armed Forces Careers Event is a great opportunity for you to speak to our exhibitors to learn more about some of the options available to you.

When: Wednesday 22 November
Where: the Junction, 10am - 1.30pm

Thank you for voting

Following the whole College vote, we are pleased to confirm that Save the Children was chosen as our national Charity of the Year and Forget Me Not Children's Hospice as our local Charity of the Year.

Given the current media headlines, we are pleased that as a College we will be supporting a charity that helps children who are affected by conflict across the world. Funds we raise will be split equally between Save the Children and Forget Me Not, who provide vital support for children and families who are living with life-shortening conditions.

Show your commitment to stamping it out

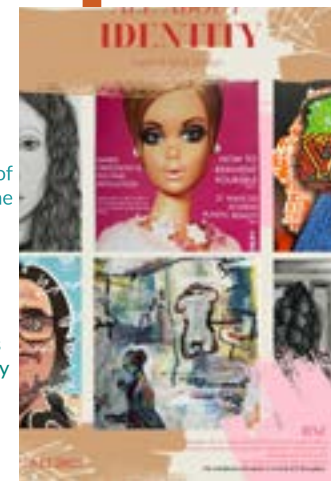

Today (Thursday) we will be rounding up Anti-Bullying Week with a focus on trans and homophobia. Join us in the Junction for your final opportunity to leave a message on our tree of kindness and collect a free pronoun, Pride or flag badge.

All about identity

Our Applied Art and Design students have put together a fantastic collection of work which reflects and encompasses the complexities of one's sense of self.

Produced in collaboration with the Student Wellbeing team, this will be hosted in Reception from Monday 20 November for just one week. Don't miss your opportunity to take a look and enjoy the work of our talented students!

Carers Rights Day

Are you a Young Carer? If you care for someone who may be disabled, physically or mentally unwell or someone who misuses substances, then you may be a Young Carer. As a Young Carer you may be helping in a number of areas from cooking meals, cleaning, caring for siblings and managing medicines and money, amongst a wide range of other things. As we approach next week's Carers Rights Day, we would like to highlight that as College we support our Young Carers. If you think you could be a Young Carer and would like to find out more please speak to Abbie Nichols in the LSC.

Don't forget that applications for term 2 parking permits are now open - see MS Teams for info
